Appear in New Role RCMP Take Over Policing Alaska Military Highway

Canada's famed "scarlet riders of the plains" will have a new role after July 1, that of controlling traffic on the great Alaska military highway between Fort St. John and the Alaska border. It was announced Saturday by U.S. army officials.

The new arrangement means that the RCMP takes over control of traffic over the full length of the highway on Canadian soil, a distance of more than 1,000 miles.

Control gates at Charlie Lake, B.C., just north of Ft. St. John, and at Whitehorse, then come under RCMP jurisdiction and will be manned by members of the force.

According to Inspector H. H. Crumley, commanding the Whitehorse subdivision of the RCMP, the "mountain" will function in collaboration with the joint Canadian-U.S. military police.

Still to be brought to safety are four other parachuted Filipino troopers and an army captain, who are being sought by the rescuers. One traitor is expected to lead the construction of the camp.

 Miss W. J. Patterson held five seats and there are three representatives of the armed forces in the 18-member house.

LOWER VOTE AGE

For the first time in Canadian history, voters between 18 and 21 years of age voted in the election. A member of the legislative assembly, an amendment to the Saskatchewan Elections Act this year permitted an estimated 500 young people to exercise their franchise in the riding.

Despite rains in the constituency area, 30 miles west of Prince Albert, reports indicated most of the young voters went to the polls. With six polls to come, the polling was heavier than a year ago when the CCF won the seat from the Liberals in a very tight fight by a majority of 1,133. The voting then totalled 5,487.

Service personnel stationed in the province were entitled to vote if they resided in the Shellbrook riding prior to enlisting. It was estimated that more than 26 persons now are stationed in the province.

SEIZE KUME ISLAND
 South of Japan the American ground forces seized their 16th island in the Ryukyu by taking Kume, a 21-mile-square chunk of coral, 10 miles from Okinawa and only 330 miles from the Chinese coast. Kume is 600 miles south of Kyushu.

This thrust expanded the American foothold in the central Pacific for an invasion effort of Japan or China. Forests cover three quarters of Kume, and a deep channel cut through a coral reef that almost entirely surrounded the island. It had a population of 15,000 civilians in 1945, but the present number of inhabitants is unknown.

In his report of the Kume landing, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz said the island was captured without firing a shot of enemy soldiers. But Radio Tokyo in reporting the landing three days ago said that the Japanese garrison had surrendered the invaders and the "heavy fighting" followed.

WARSHIPS THREATEN
 Tokyo reported today that American destroyers and mine sweepers were operating off Okinawa. The report was reported along with news that the United States had landed a force of 10,000 troops on the island of Okinawa.

Japs Holding Back Reserve Of Airplanes

 The port blockade followed immediately after radio Tokyo's announcement of the move to Manchuria.

Steps to meet the expected invasion and the new blockade of Japanese ports were also under consideration.

It was Superfortresses' first stop to Sakata and their deepest threat, yet of Japan. With the disruption of transportation in southern Japan by heavy air attacks, and the blockade of ports, installations in Japan's main harbors, Nagasaki and Sakata are main ports for the shipment of Japanese war plants and personnel to Manchuria.

LIBERATORS IN ACTION
 Navy Liberators operating from the newly captured air base in Okinawa also joined in the bombing of the Japanese harbor.

Other Allied planes kept up a constant sweep over Japan and the China Sea and several small enemy vessels were sunk or damaged, and five Japanese planes shot down.

But suffering from invasion nerves, the Japanese High Command announced the setting up of a new command, the Kwantung Army, to take command of the island of Honshu, and the command embraces the prefectures of northern Honshu and will be commanded by Gen. Keiichi Pajon.

France Planning Nationalize Firms

 Gen. Charles De Gaulle will shortly announce a nationalization program for French industry. Gen. De Gaulle, director of industrial relations at the French ministry of labor, said in an interview last night "We do not intend to put a stop to private enterprise, as too many small concerns and small landowners would be badly affected," he said.

What we want is to protect them from encroachments of large concerns and trusts.

At headquarters here today they told their story.

Major and Minor Notes

By John Oliver

ACTIVITIES of the armed services' personnel, next to the winning of the war, form the subjects of the most absorbing and being made by governments and social welfare organizations. That is as it should be, because in the years that succeeded the final fighting, the welfare of the fighting men must, and will be, of paramount importance to a grateful world. Of necessity, prime consideration must be given to food, clothing and shelter.

Later, the spiritual outlook and cultural development must receive attention. At present there is a profound interest in what the fighting men are thinking about. In two editions in Canada this month they have had an opportunity to express their thoughts politically. There have been numerous surveys made to determine their thoughts in other lines. An interesting project, suggested by the Armed Forces Radio Service in the United States, has resulted in the soldiers of the Allied Nations voting on their favored orchestral compositions and the most popular being played at a concert in Carnegie Hall, New York, on Dominion Day.

The three works which received the greatest number of votes were Elton John's "Night Music," a Little Night Music. The votes were cast in all the far-flung and great varied areas in which the Philharmonic concerns are heard, and including the audience of many millions on this continent, are the many auditions of millions who listen abroad to the short-wave of the music. Replies to the questionnaire came from the Aleutians, Alaska, Central and South America, all countries of Europe, China, Burma, the many islands of the Pacific ocean, and of course, Canada and the United States.

Now in this case the choice of the service men reveals a program that will stand up against any that might have been, or could have been, chosen by any person, or any group of persons. Thus the fighting forces are undoubtedly thinking along the right line in matters musical. It shows that musical appreciation of the best in music is great appreciation that is almost incomprehensible since the end of the First Great War.

It is since the First Great War that the development, expansion and improvement of phonograph recording, and the bringing of music to the people as a whole through radio, that musical appreciation has spread rapidly. Thus, the armed forces are enjoying a greater volume of better music than did

Fire Aboard Ship

Lighter Fluid, Canned Heat, Matches In Troops' Parcels Cause Disastrous Mail Blaze

By CHESTER BLOOM

Edmonton Bulletin, Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, June 30.—Quantities of matches, lighter fluid and canned heat were found among the debris of 4,000 bags of mail for members of the armed forces, badly damaged or destroyed by a fire in the SS Scythia before the ship docked at Liverpool a few weeks ago. Actual origin of the fire was not determined, according to postal authorities here, but the presence of the inflammable material is prima facie evidence of the cause.

Canadian postal authorities have warned again and again against the inclusion in parcels of matches, lighter fluid and canned heat.

Irresponsible persons continue to disregard the warnings. In the U.S. seven paravets are reported for violation of such postal regulations.

The Scythia carried 3,701 bags of mail for armed forces overseas. A report on the subject is being made by W. J. Turnbull, deputy postmaster-general, says:

"The postal corps overseas has made every effort to forward to us dresses such parcels as were in a fit condition but thousands of parcels were destroyed, others were saturated, or damaged to the extent that it was impossible to deliver either the nature of the sender or the addressee."

Estimated 140 bags were unaccounted for and as a result of the disaster approximately 34 tons of debris were absolutely useless and were disposed of by incineration. However, it is not unusual or intrinsic value which it was possible to salvage are being returned to the donor office, Ottawa, and will be returned to the donor office as soon as expected enquiries enable ownership to be determined.

Amongst also were some 500 bags of canned goods, bottled goods, toilet articles and soap which have been donated to the auxiliary services branch of the Canadian Forces Postal Directory amongst members of the armed forces. There were also various items of clothing—rings, neckties, underwear, shirts, socks, etc., and these have been sent to the auxiliary service branch of the Canadian army for distribution to soldiers who have lost their kit for one or more reasons, or who are in need of such supplies."

Those persons responsible to those above-mentioned were A. L. Berger, Mrs. F. Barber, Smith, Mrs. T. W. Wainwright, Mrs. L. K. Harmon, Mrs. F. C. Sherwin, Mrs. J. McQuinn, Mrs. J. W. Howard, Mrs. J. E. Rymer, Catharine Zander, Mrs. B. H. Brown, Mrs. S. Spenser, Mrs. Susan J. Howard, Mrs. C. Condie, Westlake.

Canada In Need Large Scale Plan Of Immigration

OTTAWA, June 30.—(CP)—Commissioner D. C. Lamm, who retired from active service with the Salvation Army in England after 40 years, said in an interview yesterday that "a generous, far-reaching and well-planned program of immigration on a large scale might be the only way to solve Canada's economic reconstruction."

In Canada to discuss post-war immigration, Lamm said, he had in mind a program of immigration on a large scale might be the only way to solve Canada's economic reconstruction."

Canada remains a vast geographical area of empty space. He said that in the last analysis, the flow of immigration is determined by the absorbing power of the economy and not by social or economic pressure elsewhere.

Appoint Chaplain To Each POW Camp

GENEVA (By Wire)—Steps have been taken to insure that each German prisoner-of-war camp will have at least one chaplain, Prof. Jacques Courvoisier, vice-president of the International Committee for Chaplains Service, told the press here after his return from a tour of war-torn Europe.

Chaplains are German pastors told to promote while in military service.

In Maribor, Professor Courvoisier revealed the chaplain has organized a theological school so that prisoners may prepare for ordination. Ten students are enrolled in the school at present, but the number will be increased as other prisoners are transferred from camps under American control.

In one camp, Sunday services are conducted by a young German Protestant pastor are attended regularly by congregations numbering up to 200. In another, where the war has been organized, the chaplain reported that the ministry during the war was "infinitely more fruitful than now because the monks established in captivity are more fervent."

A well-organized "parish life" was found at a camp where the chapel has been built and the walls covered with religious pictures. Services are held there regularly, and Bible study is conducted three times a week. A choir was formed among the prisoners, one of whom was a cantata for St. John.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

Success

EVERY man craves success. The desire to stand out, to be noticed, to shine among our fellows, is a common human trait. By material standards, the greatest successes of this world are those who are most powerful, most wealthy, most learned, most talented.

But how does God measure success? Since all gifts—power, riches, physical and mental capacities—come from His hand, His criterion must be based on how these gifts are used. This means that a man's only ultimate and true success—his salvation—must be measured by the degree to which he has served God within the station in life and capacities which God has ordained for him.

To be well endowed in life does not imply a mark of divine predilection. St. Francis of Assisi was his special talent except an ability to stir men's hearts. Even the great and saintly figures of the early Christian Church were poor and often outwardly undistinguished men. But no one today ranks them, as did their powerful and frequently contemptuous contemporaries, as failures.

It would be foolish and unwise to dissuade men from carving out careers, from winning success in their chosen fields of endeavor. All worthy ambitions are to be encouraged. Christian teaching merely insists that no human goal is worth attaining if it means endangering one's inner spiritual life; if it means, in the end, sacrificing the friendship and love of God for honors and advantage that are only too transient.

The test of true success is how a man, strong or weak, rich or poor, wise or unlettered, makes friends with God; how much time he finds to do Him honor; how humbly he prays; how diligently he seeks to do the will of God; how deeply he loves his fellowmen.

Authorize Laymen Group Formation

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Establishment of a laymen's group in every parish of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America was authorized here by the 19th General Assembly of the Church.

Purpose of the laymen's group was to co-operate with the presbytery in "advancing the total program of the Presbyterian Church in local, state, national and world levels."

The general assembly also approved a recommendation of the special committee on laymen that the department of church cooperation and union consider a plan for conferences among laymen interested in promoting the cause of church union "speedily" within the Presbyterian and reformed churches.

Four goals for laymen, adopted by the general assembly a year ago, were re-adopted. They are:

1. Progress in spiritual life and education of the laity.

2. Sunday school advance, to a goal of 1,500,000 in 1948.

3. Progress towards church union. A resolution giving increased by living donors from $600,000 (1943-44) to $10,000,000 in the church year ending March 31, 1948.

4. Full participation in raising the post-war rehabilitation fund.

Women Eligible

Women are now eligible for election to the Anglican Synod of the United States on the same basis as men, according to action taken last year. The synod's annual session in Halifax, N.S., was the first in which women were members of the synod. The vote remains in effect, however.

numbering about 5,000,000 and united in a single All-Union organization, will arrange a similar interchange with the Baptists of the United States in the near future, the Evangelical Christian and Baptists of the USSR.

A Medal For a Serviceman's Wife

By Marion Lewis Schmitz

"A medal, please, for a serviceman's wife."

"I heard the young man say."

"I want her to wear it the rest of her life."

"I can make it large and gold and gay."

The clerk looked over the counter at the young man standing there. He was tired and weary from battle. She was premature gray in his hair.

"I'm sorry, sir," she answered. "We've medals for draftees, it's true. But one for a serviceman's wife is obviously something quite new."

"We've lockets and bracelets and compasses."

"And trinkets to please any wife. Perhaps you would care to see them."

"But the soldier himself is a kindly soul. He'll like them."

"I don't like him on his special day. You see, she's been more than a wife."

"She's been 'Daddy's baby' as well as a wife."

SWIFT RETURN

Indicative of the church's swift return to normalcy was the announcement that a new church newspaper will be launched in Oslo.

Only about 50 of Norway's clergy will be affected by the decree. Unaffected by the order are 30 "clergymen" appointed by puppet Premier Vidkun Quisling, since their nominations were illegal so far as the church is concerned.

The Norwegian church government is now in the hands of the provisional council formed after Quisling's overthrow.

Admit Failure In Patching Up Differences

CHICAGO—Failure of attempts to reconcile differences in the Northern Baptist Convention were the conduct of foreign missions was admitted in action taken by the denomination's General Council here.

The Council adopted a majority report of the Committee on Conciliation which reaffirmed confidence in the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society, official agency of the Convention, and refused to recognize the dissident Conservative Baptist Mission Society as an independent group.

The general council further agreed with most of the committee that it was "misleading to attempt to use the title 'Conservative Baptist Foreign Mission Society' to designate the new society, since it implied a sound basis of sympathy with its policies and methods, and since it implied that the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society is something other than conservative."

The council suggested that the new society should "more properly" be named the "Fundamental Foreign Mission Society."

Confroversy over foreign missions has been a recurring theme since December of 1943 the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society was formed in protest against the alleged tendency on the part of the American Society to "steal" the title of the denomination.

A statement issued by the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society has also accelerated the sharp decline in truthfulness and personal honesty and the alarming extent of sexual laxity and the gambling.

Propose English Church Spend Million Dollars Convert Faith

A proposal that the Church of England spend up to a million dollars annually for an education and publicity campaign to "convert" England to the "Christian faith" was submitted in London by the Church Assembly here by the Commission on Evangelism appointed in 1943 by the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Bishop of London.

The report, which has been widely hailed as one of the most important documents ever reviewed by the Assembly, painted a gloomy picture of religious life in Britain and called for an unprecedented effort to combat irreligious tendencies.

LONDON, June 30.—(Reuters)—Urn containing the ashes of 16 Nazis killed in the Munich beer cellar "putch" of 1933 and honored afterwards as "blood witnesses" of the Hitler movement, have been removed from the Munich memorial and buried in a local cemetery, the Allied News Service in Germany reported last night. This has been done in accordance with the order of the military authorities that all Nazi symbols and emblems must be removed by July 4.

Igor Stravinsky, the composer, was only half of his name. He was christened Igor Fedorovich Stravinsky.

Marigolds Bloom In Victory Garden

If flowers have not been seen in your Victory garden, it is not too late. Quick action can be obtained from an attractive list of annuals, which will germinate (in warm weather) in five days and flower in 25 to 40 more. Here are some you might try:

Zinnia, ageratum, alysium, candytuft, pentstemon, clerks, cymoglossum, annual sunflowers, morphing glories, annual pinks, linaria, marigolds, poppies.

Such a list might be very much enlarged by including varieties which will germinate in a week or ten days. But it would be interesting to see what sort of garden could be made of just a few flower families, seeking interest by using different colors and types.

Take zinnias for example—they could hardly be omitted from a garden of annuals. There are the small-flowered singles, the small tulip doubles, the intermediate or "pumpkin" type and the giant flowered varieties. They give an abundance of pink, red, orange and yellow varieties with a few lavender. A whole border might be planted mostly to zinnias, provided one used enough ageratum and cymoglossum to introduce the needed blue tones.

Late planted daisies are best sown where they are to remain to avoid the check of transplanting. Plant three or four seeds to a hill, hills 2 1/2 feet apart for the large flowering types and 18 inches for the dwarf sorts. Then thin to a single plant. They will make rapid growth, especially if encouraged with a complete plant food.

Apply a teaspoonful of plant food around each plant after buds appear. Stir it into the soil, taking care not to allow it to touch stems or foliage. If it should get on the foliage, brush or wash off.

Modern marigolds have been greatly improved by plant breeders, and while they do not offer the range of color found in zinnias, they have a remarkable variety of sizes and forms. Among the giant flowered types are some which resemble carnations, others chrysanthemums, and still others have blossoms formed like daisies. Dwarf nasturtiums give a wide range of coloring, from yellow through orange to a deep maroon, and they make attractive ribbon plantings, covered with flowers all summer long.

Cultivate all vegetables very shallow to avoid root injury. Surface cultivation to control weeds and break up the crust formed after rains is all that is necessary.

You can induce a second growth of daisies by cutting back the stalks to the ground. If the stems are large and hollow when cut, fill them with mud to keep out water.

Cultivate Weekly for Good Roses

Plants Need Feeding Until Blooms Halt

The summer care of roses includes, first of all, weekly cultivation of the soil. This loosening permits air, moisture and plant food to reach the roots. If the soil is kept constantly stirred from early autumn, healthier plants and better blooms will result.

Mulching with peatmoss has proven satisfactory and eliminates the job of cultivation during the summer. However, cultivation is most necessary until mid-June, when fertilizer should be spread about the plants and worked into the soil. The mulch can then be applied. Peatmoss is attractive looking on the beds and will retain moisture. But, when once dry, it becomes resistant to anything except a long continued rain or heavy watering.

Application of fertilizer is difficult through a mulch of any material, the mulch has to be scraped away from each plant and replaced after it has been incorporated. Weekly feeding of roses is necessary during the period of budding and blooming, and should be continued until the roses show signs of decreasing activity. J. Horace McFarland, President Emeritus, American Rose Society, and author of "How to Grow Roses," says that this is a normal condition and will last but a few weeks. When the plants show signs of coming into bloom again, continue the application of fertilizer for liquid manure until the first of September. Feeding after that time is apt to encourage a soft growth which is quickly damaged or destroyed by early frosts. It is better to use a large quantity of weak fertilizer than a small quantity of a strong one. Roses need much water during the blooming season. They will withstand considerable drought, but only at the expense of blooms. Roses benefit by being thoroughly soaked with water, every week, every sprinkling with the hose is better watering than can be done by the hand.

Roses are subject to diseases and insects from early spring to late autumn, so have your duster and sprayer ready at all times. Black spot and mildew, the most serious diseases, are likely to occur at any time. They cannot be cured but can be prevented by keeping the plants dusted with Mucor or similar dust containing sulphur. These dusts also contain lead arsenate, making them poisonous to muck-chewing insects. No effective control has been found for destroying the rose-beetle, rose-bug, rose-chaffer or the Japanese beetle. The dusts do act as repellents, and thus damage by insects is lessened. Hand picking the bugs and dropping them into a can of kerosene, while unpleasant, is a sure method of control. Aphids (plant lice) are controlled with nicotine-sulfate, 1% transpoudal in each gallon of soapy water.

Rotenone, Cryolite Dust are Controls For Garden Chewing, Sucking Insects

The cabbage worm ... destroys 20 per cent. of all cabbage plants ...

Rotenone is a most valuable foliar insecticide used as a control measure against both chewing and sucking insects. It may be used as a dust or a spray and in combination with some kinds of fungicides. Rotenone is extracted from the ground roots of cube and derris, two plants growing only in the tropics. Inasmuch as the war has almost stopped importation of rotenone, it is not plentiful, and the gardener must be conservative in its use.

Rotenone is recommended as protection against the pea weevil, grasshopper, Mexican bean beetle, insects attacking cabbage, broccoli, brussels sprouts, cauliflower, kohlrabi, mustard, kale, turnips and collards, and as partial control of the European corn borer. Cover the plant surfaces thoroughly, but do not use excessive amounts of the material. Cryolite dust may be substituted for rotenone at this time for use on many vegetables. As protection against the Mexican bean beetle, it should be dusted on the vines every 10 days until the pods begin to form, then switch to rotenone. Do not use lead arsenate or other poisons on beans, as either of these will injure the vines. Cryolite is likewise recommended for control of cabbage caterpillars, that group of leaf-eating worms who damage cabbage wherever grown, until the heads begin to form; apply rotenone after the caterpillars have begun to head up. Mexican bean beetles are copper-colored, about one-third inch in

Dodgers' Margin Reduced
As Cubs Gain Even Split

BROOKLYN, June 9.—(AP)—Brooklyn and Chicago split a doubleheader Friday with Dodgers taking the opener 8-4, with a three-run rally in the ninth and losing the nightcap 9-1. As a result of the outcome the Dodgers lead in the National League was cut to 2½ games, the Cards, in second place, having won their single engagement with the Phillies.

Hy Vandenberg beat the Dodgers to four hits in the nightcap and their only run resulted from a homer by Augie Galan. Vic Lombardi who opposed Vandenberg for eight frames allowed runs but not control in his downfall.

In the first game Luis Otero slugged a single to center off Wally Sagner to break up the losing hit sending Otero over the plate with the winning run. Chicago..... 000 000 4-8 4

SUPERMAN

— SO NOW YOU KNOW TOM WAS AS GOOD A SOLDIER AS ANY OF THEM! —

JERRY SIEGEL
AND

COPYRIGHT 1945, MCCLURE NEWSPAPER SYNDICATE

SUPERMAN HAS TAKEN CORPORAL TOM BRODIE'S DAD TO A SOUTH PACIFIC COMBAT AREA TO PROVE THAT THE BOY—DISCHARGED FROM THE ARMY FOR COMBAT FATIGUE—WAS NEITHER A COWARD NOR A QUITTER. NOW, HOMEWARD BOUND—

BETTER THAN MOST, HIS COMMANDING OFFICER AND HIS CHAPLAIN CONVINCED ME OF THAT!

AND NOW I WANT TO GET HOME AS FAST AS I CAN—TO ASK TOM'S FORGIVENESS FOR MY HARD WORDS AND FOR THE FACE SLAPPING I GAVE HIM...

WE'LL BE THERE IN A JIFFY—AND I'M SURE YOU'LL GET THAT FORGIVENESS!

SOON AFTER—

TOM—I HOPE—

I HOPE YOU'LL FORGET IT, DAD! I HAVE!

AND LOOK—MY OLD SUITS STILL FIT ME! A LITTLE TIGHT ACROSS THE SHOULDERS, AND A LITTLE LOOSE AT THE WAIST, BUT NOT BAD!

I WISH I COULD SAY THE SAME FOR MY SUITS, SON!

HI, EVERYBODY!—YOU TOO, SUPERMAN! AND, TOMMY—ARE YOU PRETTY NEARLY READY TO GO NOW?

THERE'S A DANCE DOWN AT THE CLUB, YOU KNOW, AND TOMMY AND I ARE GOING! (SIGH!) GOLLY! IT'LL BE JUST LIKE OLD TIMES!

BUT MUCH BETTER THAN EVER, JANIE...

I BAKED A BIG BOX OF DOUGHNUTS FOR YOU TO TAKE ALONG.

HARUMPH! BETTER HAVE A LITTLE MONEY IN YOUR JEANS, SON, I THINK I HAVE A TEN-DOLLAR BILL HERE SOMEWHERE...

THANKS, DAD—I COULD USE TEN, AT THAT! BUT IT'S JUST A LOAN, REMEMBER!

SHUCKS, TOM, YOU DON'T HAVE TO WORRY ABOUT THAT!

THANKS AGAIN, DAD, BUT—WELL, YOU SEE, I WENT DOWN AND TALKED WITH MR. HAWLEY TODAY, AND I'M STARTING ON MY OLD JOB TOMORROW—WITH A RAISE, TOO! MR. HAWLEY SAID I MIGHT BE NEEDING A LITTLE MORE MONEY ONE OF THESE DAYS...

WE OWE YOU A LOT, SUPERMAN!

YES... FOR HELPING US TO SEE THAT OUR BOY IS STILL OUR SAME BOY!

ALL YOUR TOM NEEDED—AND ALL THOUSANDS OF OTHER TOMS WILL NEED—WAS THE SIMPLE UNDERSTANDING AND ACCEPTANCE OF HIS PARENTS, HIS GIRL, AND HIS OLD BOSS. I HOPE THEY'LL ALL GET IT IN EQUAL MEASURE...

LOST MOLASSES

The TEENIE WEEENIES

BY Wm. DONAHAY

BESIDE the lane that runs near the Teenie Weenie village is a deep gully where the big folks who live in the neighborhood dump their trash. The Teenie Weenies keep a very close watch over this trash heap, for big folks often throw away things which are most useful to the little people. There they find bits of cellophane to repair the Teenie Weenie windows. The Cook hunts for metal bottle tops which he can use for cooking pots and dishpans. Sometimes he finds a vanilla bottle with a few drops remaining in it and that will flavor a great many Teenie Weenie cakes and thimbles of doughnuts. Even the dainty Lady of Fashion goes to the dump, for she sometimes finds an old silk necktie from which she can get enough material to make tiny dresses or curtains for the Teenie Weenie windows.

One day the Dunce and Gogo found a can with some molasses in it.

"Lawsy!" exclaimed Gogo, pulling his tiny finger out of his mouth after tasting the molasses. "This is good sweet 'lasses. It sho' would make fine pully candy if we had it at home."

"Let's get some," said the Dunce.

They brought a thimble and a cherry seed from the shoe house and, crawling into the can, they soon dipped up enough molasses with the cherry seed to half fill the thimble. Each taking one of the handles fixed to the top of the thimble, they set off for home. They had gone only a short way when two huge bumblebees came buzzing around their heads. Now, Teenie Weenies have a great respect for bumblebees' stingers, and the two chaps dropped the thimble and ran for cover. Gogo dodged under a stick to safety while the Dunce ran up onto a piece of brick and dived head first into an old teacup of dirty water. Gogo was quite safe under the cover of the stick but every time the Dunce popped his head out of the water for a breath of air one of the bees would dive towards him. Although it would have been hard to make the Dunce believe that the bees were not getting lots of fun out of teasing him, what they really wanted was the molasses. When one of the bees discovered the overturned thimble they both began feasting on the spilled molasses. This gave the two Teenie Weenies a chance to slip away unharmed.

"SHUCKS!" growled the dripping Dunce as the two little men made their way home, "I hate to lose that good molasses."

"Sho," grinned Gogo. "Dat's what de bees thought, too."

City Is Ready To Celebrate Dominion Day

With thousands of veterans freshly back from overseas and joyful anticipation of many others soon returning, Edmonton prepared Saturday to celebrate the first Dominion Day Monday since the end of the European War with something of the old-time hilarity.

The weather man promised celebration of a high order, with an official forecast of fair and continuous warm for the weekend.

Sports Events
 In the city there were many events scheduled that will provide high class entertainment for sports followers.

Baseball fans had a full menu prepared, with senior league contests scheduled both Saturday and Sunday at Bennett Park.
 A Junior Baseball league game will be played at Clarke Stadium Sunday afternoon.

Lawn bowlers will be out in force with many holiday tournaments scheduled at the various city greens.

For course golfers, who are the necessary gutters, are sure to swarm over the fairways at the city club course.

If the weather is warm city swimming pools are certain to have the biggest weekend of the season to date.

BIG CARNIVAL
 The south side Business Men's Association will open a big street carnival at 104 street and 82 avenue on Monday and this is certain to draw a heavy attendance.

City moving picture theatres have special holiday attractions in movie cases and many citizens are certain to spend the holiday by seeing a good show.

Because of the late, cold spring and early summer lake reports are expected to experience the first real fishing of the year Sunday and Monday.

Many citizens with cottages at lakes are preparing to use some carefully boarded gasoline for first big outings of the year.

Fort St. John. Detours north of Elberta and north of Aldridge on Edmonton-Calgary highway still in effect.

WOUNDED WAR PRISONER BACK AT WORK—Carl Rudyk, Edmonton-born former prisoner, declares that a year in a German prison camp makes the battle of readjustment seem easy by comparison. Rudyk, who was a flight lieutenant in the RCAF on discharge a few weeks ago, is seen at his accountant's desk in the office of D. G. Latta Ltd., blacksmith supplies, in the above picture. Despite the handicap of the loss of a leg suffered when he leaped from a burning bomber over Germany, Rudyk feels he has this readjustment battle beaten.

After Harsh Experiences Former Prisoner Wins Battle Readjustment, Rehabilitation

Canada's young veterans are facing the problems of readjustment and rehabilitation in a spirit that will break no denial. And the so-called "handicapped" veterans are displaying the most magnificent spirit of all. Such a spirit is worthy of a truly new Canada in which the ill of the pre-war world are banished forever. Another personal readjustment story follows—EDITOR.

By JACK DELONG
 Anybody who has "lived" in Germany in a prisoner of war camp for a long period should not find the problem of readjustment and rehabilitation too tough.

That's the view expressed by Carl Rudyk, 35-year-old former navigator of the RCAF, who is back at work as a civilian again after harsh experiences in the uniform of his country that would be apt to daunt the spirit of a less determined man.

Rudyk is an accountant in the office of D. G. Latta Ltd., wholesale blacksmith supplies, the firm he worked for before enlisting in the air force about three and one half years ago.

"I am back to a better job than the one I left," he said recently.

WELL TREATED
 "Everybody has treated me well and I honestly believe the service man is getting a real break from the government this time. I think with all the government assistance that is available it is definitely up to the man himself whether he succeeds in the battle of readjustment and rehabilitation," the former airman said.

There are many who might not agree. Continued on Page Twenty-Four

WAR VETERANS Questions and Answers DEPARTMENT

Exemptions from tax payments on the part of soldiers under certain conditions.

Although it is often impossible to give the correct answer to every query because of a lack of complete information, The Edmonton Bulletin will attempt to give information concerning any question in this department and recommend that additional information concerning any particular case be forwarded to veterans' authorities for a more complete answer.

The following letter has been received from G. Riegert of Box 200, Weiskam:

In case of those soldiers who were in 1939 from Czechoslovakia to Canada and settled at Tupper Creek, B.C. I came to Canada with my wife and two sons.

In 1942 myself and my two sons joined the Canadian Army and went overseas in 1942. I returned from overseas in June, 1944. My sons are still serving with the Canadian Army, in Germany.

During my period of service I paid up all money owing on my land. I have the land title and have paid taxes for 1943-44 and 45.

Was I obliged to pay those taxes as I am still in the army?

Answer: The Soldiers' Relief Act states in part:

Land which is the home property of a soldier together with all buildings and improvements thereon shall be exempt from assessment and taxation by any municipality in which the soldier becomes a soldier and thereafter until he ceases to be a soldier, providing such land was owned by a soldier or his wife six months prior to the date of the soldier becoming a soldier or at the first day of September, 1939. In addition arrears in taxes will not be collected during the time the soldier is a soldier.

As you do not make clear your status of ownership at the time of your enlistment we would advise you to forward full particulars of this together with pertinent data concerning payments on the land and date of obtaining title to Secretary-Manager W. J. Williams of Branch No. 24 of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.U. Memorial Hall, Edmonton.

It does seem that you will have considerable of a rebate due you in these taxes. But the complete information concerning your purchase of the land would need to be known before the question could be answered with certainty.

Threat Lessens

Bread Shortage

In London Area

LONDON, June 30.—(Reuters)—Threat of an impending bread shortage in London during the week-end receded Friday afternoon as more than 3,000 workers of the flour milling industry decided to resume work after a short strike.

They will return to their jobs Saturday. Workers from the mills as well as transport workers were affected.

The dispute started Monday when a driver employed by a London flour milling firm was dismissed for overstaying his holidays. He appealed to the ministry of labor appeals board which, however, upheld the firm's action.

The men decided to resume work on the advice of their union officials.

Thirty Divorces

In Day And Half

VANCOUVER, June 29.—(CP)—A survey yesterday showed that British Columbia divorce courts at Vancouver and New Westminster have ground out a total of 30 divorces in a day and a half. In Vancouver Thursday and before noon Friday 18 divorces and two annulments were completed. Two other applications were heard. At New Westminster six divorces were granted Thursday and six before noon Friday.

Fatal Scalding Of Small Baby Said Accident

CALGARY, June 30.—(CP)—A coroner's jury last night decided that the death of 18-month-old Edwin Alfred Pickering, who was fatally scalded in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Dennis Tuesday afternoon was "accidental."

The baby, with a brother and sister, was being taken care of by Mrs. Dennis for his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pickering. The other Pickering children are Albert, 2½, and Audrey, 4½.

PUT WATER ON FLOOR

Mrs. Dennis said she had placed water into a basin from the hot water tap and put it on the floor at the dining room preparatory to washing the floor in the room where Edwin and Albert were playing. She didn't know what the temperature of the water was, she said, and had gone into the kitchen to fetch soap. When she returned she found Edwin "sitting in the basin," Mrs. Dennis declared.

She immediately took his clothing off, and some skin from the child's body clung to the clothing. She also put saline on the scald wounds and put him to bed.

The child was taken to hospital and died a day later.

Five Minesweepers Ready for Delivery To Russian Sailors

OTTAWA, June 30.—(CP)—The first five of 10 minesweepers being provided by Canada to Russia are to be delivered at Toronto sometime between July 15 and Sept. 1, Munitions Minister Howe announced last night.

The ships will be turned over directly to Soviet sailors who are coming to Canada and who will sail them back to clear harbors and waterways of Russia still strewn with war mines.

Throughout the war it was common practice, in the case of ships built for other governments of the British Commonwealth, to deliver them directly to crews sent here for the purpose, but this is believed to be the first time delivery is being made in this manner to any of the other Allied Nations.

Air Force Paper "Closes Up Shop" After Three Years

LONDON, June 30.—(CP)—Wings Abroad, official newspaper of the RCAF overseas, has closed up shop after more than three years of publication.

The last edition of the weekly, devoted almost exclusively to news of Canada's airmen, appeared Thursday and carried many pictures of a bomber flying over the sea, of airmen boarding a troopship and of the paper's office door with the sign "Closed."

The picture was captioned "Westward Ho by Air and Sea," and were the paper's way of explaining that, with repatriation of Canadian airmen, the paper's job is finished.

Accept Telegrams To Europe Points

MONTREAL, June 30.—(CP)—Canadian National Telegraphs and Canadian Pacific Telegraphs announced yesterday that service to Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania and Poland, had been resumed. There are no restrictions on the texts of personal messages, but censorship restricts business or financial messages.

HITLER'S LITTLE EVA—This picture of Eva Braun, who was Hitler's wife and died with him, according to some reports, was obtained from Frau Getel Fegelein, wife of an SS Obergruppenfuhrer and Hitler's liaison officer with Himmler, who lives on Russekogelstrasse in Garmisch-Partenkirchen.

As you do not make clear your status of ownership at the time of your enlistment we would advise you to forward full particulars of this together with pertinent data concerning payments on the land and date of obtaining title to Secretary-Manager W. J. Williams of Branch No. 24 of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.U. Memorial Hall, Edmonton.

Ease Restrictions On Manufacturing Canadian Radios

OTTAWA, June 30.—(CP)—The Prices Board announced last night that radio manufacturers in Canada may now be given permission to proceed with reconstruction plans but added that they must bring their models back on the market at 1941 prices.

M. H. Foreman, co-ordinator of capital equipment and durable goods, warned, however, that there was "little likelihood" that any radio sets would appear for civilian sale for "some considerable time yet." Production has been banned since 1941.

He explained that Canada depends on American manufacturers for component parts and as civilian production of new radios has not yet been authorized in the United States, parts are not available for export. Canadian manufacturers now are free to prepare reconstruction plans and get into production as soon as component parts are obtainable.

15-YEAR-OLD OWEN SOUND, ONT. STUDENT CREATES NEW CLOTH DYES

In an extra-curricular "enrichment" activity following a quest for knowledge of the kind not generally dispensed in the class room, Colleen Kindree, 15, second-year student at Owen Sound, Ont., collegiate institute, has amazed her classmates by her ability to manufacture dyes in her home "kitchen laboratory." She has produced 25 colors ranging from pale yellow to deep black, all applied successfully to the coloring of fabrics. Among things that find their way into Colleen's dye "hash" are onion skins, apple bark, beets, wild plum bark, walnut shells and vegetable material. She uses a standard mordant (the chemical in the dye that makes it fast) and is fascinated by endless field of color and research. Medicine bottles are her home laboratory test tubes. "I might have had more colors, but I ran out of bottles," she said.

COPS WINK AT TOWN'S "KNEE-TO-NECKLINE"
BY-LAW—Contrasts between the old and new in bathing attire are shown here as three contestants for the Miss Toronto title at the Toronto police games visit the New Toronto, Ont., beach for a bit of sun bathing. Although the town's old by-law required bathers be garbed "from knee to neckline," the genial police told the girls to enjoy themselves.

Girls learn about planes and the airlines and here Miss Barry is telling a group of her students about elevators and other things which make planes fly.

Oxygen mask technique is learned by Mary Adams while Betty Hemmington, chief stewardess, makes adjustments. The girls are paid by TCA during six weeks they spend studying.
